Tim Eriksen & Peter Irvine Absence and her sister

“This release is just an absolute musical and sonic treat—a wonderful combination not often found in the various folk and traditional music recordings that have found their way to my listening room... This is an album of imagination, minimalist restraint, and the deep musical synergy of longtime collaborators... Absence and her sister shines with creativity, compassion, and the gentle humor of two musicians who clearly love playing together... Recording engineer and producer Barry Diament captures Eriksen and Irvine with the three-dimensional immediacy of live performance. With minimal miking, no overdubs, and no post-processing, this recording has an authenticity that is rare in this genre, so often burdened by studio manipulation. This is a recording to celebrate.”
